

Aiola: a journey in the heart of Tuscany

We are a winery situated in Siena in the heart of the beautiful Tuscany. Our production line reflects the Tuscan atmosphere, its perfume and its traditions but above all its landscape. Our company is known in Italy but also all over the world and we can boast a tradition of more than 80 years.

Last year we proposed a competition for high school students in Tuscany, later we chose five photographs of charming Tuscan views and we decided to use them for our bottles.

Our company proposes a new line of our classical Aiola wine but with a renewed etiquette in order to celebrate the bond between Aiola and Tuscany.

The product is aimed, above all, at our faithful customers who appreciate the classicism of our excellent wine.

The product was thought with the idea of creating bottles which can be collected by customers.

The bottle etiquettes represent the scenery of our region with pictures which narrate its story, culture and climate.

Our new wine has the same price as our classical line, but we also offer it in a premium version: an elegant tin box which contains all the five bottles, which is ideal as a present.

If you want to discover the other photographs in the competition you can visit our website www.Aiolawine.it, where you can find a great deal of photos and you can watch them to discover the wonder of our excellent region. We hope Tuscan people but also Italian and foreign people will appreciate the particularity of this product, which offers you a journey in the lovely heart of Tuscany.
