LEATHER COVER

Our company has been producing leather products for a long time and is considered a world leader.

Tuscan leather is famous all over the world. We export our products to 120 countries in the world. Despite the great global competition, the Tuscan tanning industry still holds an undisputed international leadership with its production which comes to 20% of world production.

Our range of products is wide, but now we would like to launch a new product on the market.

We have created a cover for iPhone and Samsung smartphones, which are the leaders on the technological market today. We have created this new product because we would like to increase our target of consumers.

Our handmade product is special, unique and innovative because the cheapest covers on the market were made of plastic up to now.

Our strengths are that our products are made with real leather and we propose a large range of colours. We can offer this product at a low price because we produce handmade products so we are very competitive on the market for our price-quality ratio.

Today we export our products all over the world and our consumers will be able to find our whole range of products in every Leather Fair in Italy. Besides we distribute them in the main Tuscan centres, which sell typical and regional products.

In conclusion our products are original and genuine and we combine design and quality at a very affordable price.

Our products are advertised on the Internet and on our website.
